Our tours combine must-see sights with hidden gems, all led by passionate, personable local guides. Our seamless, stress-free approach ensures that your journey feels like an adventure with close friends, where genuine human connection and surprise moments of delight are at the heart of every experience.

"I founded the company after returning from living in Zambia in 2016, leaving my former career as a history and politics teacher to share my passion for the 'England' I'd longed for whilst away, and promptly resolved to create a tour company that shared this 'authentic' England as the personal experience I seek when travelling myself."

We design every itinerary with a balanced and imaginative approach, ensuring each tour is both unique and memorable. Our flexible, adaptive service means we can adjust on the go to meet the needs of our guests, providing a truly personalised experience.

We focus on building genuine connections with our guests, sharing the beauty of our region while exploring alongside them. Together, we enjoy the learning experiences that unfold and the powerful discussions and relationships that develop along the way. We believe the best experiences aren't found in following a formula, but in connecting on a human level.

We aim to be a positive and transformative business, empowering and developing our team, working alongside local communities and partners, and making environmental sustainability and community engagement integral to the way we work.

Our core values—creativity, inclusivity, and respect—are woven into everything we do. We prioritise quality over quantity, delivering unhurried, rich experiences that leave a lasting impact. Going far beyond simple sightseeing, we share anecdotes, stories, connections and surprises to ensure every experience we deliver is unforgettable and engaging from start to finish, leaving a lasting impression long after your journey ends...

We hope you'll join us and fall in love with our region too.

The team

"I'm Jules, the founder of In & Beyond Bath. I set up In & Beyond Bath to provide a different kind of touring experience - one that provides a real insight into our culture, heritage, places, stories and cuisine in manner that is much more meaningful and based on personal connection and meaning, focused on the guests' experience, not on the itinerary or the guide."

Why Visit Bath?

Bath is a very special destination, and one that offers a unique experience to visitors. The city and its surrounds are located within two areas of outstanding natural beauty, The Cotswolds and The Mendips, and the entire urban area of the city is inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage site, the only example in of its kind in the UK.

Bath's natural thermal springs, which attracted the Romans to establish the settlement around 50AD continue to attract visitors to bathe in the spring waters. And while you can enjoy the waters and therapeutic treatments at the Thermae Bath Spa today, you can also visit the original Roman Baths and stand in footsteps of visitors from 2,000 years ago.

The Roman Baths sit comfortably alongside the historic Bath Abbey, the site of the coronation of King Edgar, the first king of England in 973AD. However, it is the stunning Georgian architecture of Bath that the city is most famous for, with its sweeping crescents and honey coloured Bath stone buildings.

If it feels like being enveloped within a Jane Austen novel or a period drama, it is not a surprise given that Jane Austen herself resided in Bath and set two novels here. You can learn more about her and her life at the Jane Austen Centre or visit during the Jane Austen festival. Bath itself is often used as a location for film and TV, most recently as the setting for Bridgerton but also featuring in Les Misérables, The Duchess and Vanity Fair.

Jane Austen is not the only writer to create classics while staying in Bath. Mary Shelley wrote most of Frankenstein while staying in the city in 1816 and in 2021, a new visitor experience, Mary Shelley's House of Frankenstein, opened to the public, celebrating the author and her creation.

Culture enthusiasts will also be excited by the number of museums and galleries located in and around the city. For a small, walkable city there are a wide range of small museums celebrating the city's social history as well as celebrating monumental discoveries. Both the Holburne and the Victoria Art Gallery host world-class exhibitions alongside local artists.

Cultural visits are not limited to the day as the city offers up pre-West End theatre at the Theatre Royal and is home to many classical and contemporary musical events and festivals. Its annual cultural programme is rich and diverse with carnivals, colour and the UK's finest Christmas market, celebrating small local artisan producers.

Being a small urban centre surrounded by stunning countryside, there is an incredible array of local food and drink to discover – even including visits to the producers. A number of local cheese producers, vineyards, gin distilleries, bakeries, cider makers and craft breweries offer tours and experiences for foodies. There are excellent food tours exploring historical and modern-day favourites, with the not-to-be-missed Sally Lunn's, reputedly the oldest house in Bath and home to the famous Sally Lunn bun.

Bath's hospitality extends to the favourite English pub. Nestled in and among the cobbled streets, enjoy a warm welcome and hearty food, all washed down with a pint of local beer. Don't miss the country pubs too, with breathtaking views or riverside inns for a feel of yesteryear. And if you prefer your drinks a little more contemporary, there are plenty of sophisticated cocktails and elegant wine bars. A warm welcome will also be waiting for you at one of Bath's many luxury and boutique hotels, guest houses or holiday lets.

From the natural thermal waters at the Gainsborough Hotel & Spa to the majesty of the Royal Crescent Hotel & Spa, these are truly destination hotels. In recent years the emergence of quirky boutique hotels offer sumptuous and decadent surroundings with incredible attention to detail, including The Bird and No 15 Great Pulteney. For those wanting the comfort of familiar brand, Hilton and Marriott are also represented.

Bath's independent hotel and guest houses really offer a luxurious home from home, including award-winning The Queensberry Hotel and its Michelin starred Olive Tree Restaurant. And if your preference is more rural, stunning countryside destination hotels surround the city including the five star Bath Priory, quirky Homewood or The Pig.

A visit to Bath offers 2,000 years of history with one of the UK's most vibrant cultural scenes, wrapped in stunning natural landscapes and the warmest of welcomes. We've been welcoming visitors for 2,000 years and we can't wait to welcome you!

History

During the 1700s, as Britain began to emerge as a global power on account of its burgeoning empire and industrial might, Bath found itself to be the fashionable residence for the new and more established wealthy classes to meet and connect. As a result, Bath was transformed from an unimportant medieval town known for its springs by visiting lepers hoping for a cure, to becoming a playground for the rich and famous and the birthplace of a new imperial, classical architecture with the region's golden sandstone taking centre stage.

Our Region

1 The Wye Valley 1 hour from Bath
 This steep-sided, wooded river valley has served as the border between England and Wales for over a millennia. The river's banks are home to some of Britain's most extraordinary medieval gems, the great Cistercian Abbey at Tintern, and the towering fortress of 1000-year-old Chepstow Castle, scene of numerous bloody dramas throughout the centuries.

2 The Cotswolds 1 hour from Bath
 This beloved region of England had its heyday in the Middle Ages when English wool was highly prized and sold into Europe along the Silk Road and Arabic Empire to the Far East. In decline from the 1600s onwards following the discovery of the Americas and the growth of the cotton trade, the open, rolling hills, ancient settlements, grand estates and thatched roofs provide an extraordinary insight into a distant past.

3 Bristol 40 minutes from Bath
 Britain's main western port historically and linked to London by the ancient King's Road (The Great West Way) and the world's first long distance passenger railway, the Great Western Railway, Bristol is one of England's most buzzing and eclectic cities. Founded on seafaring, and later, grown wealthy on the back of the slave trade, Bristol today is a metropolitan and fascinating destination boasting an array of industries. Enjoy the art galleries, eateries and museums that line the historic docks, or stroll past the Georgian façades of Clifton to admire the view from the world's first suspension bridge. Discover the city's aeronautical past with a visit to Concorde at Filton aerodrome, or enjoy the shopping and sumptuous dining the city has to offer.

4 Somerset 30 minutes from Bath
 This stunning, rural county south of Bath is home to breathtaking countryside & natural phenomena like Cheddar Gorge and the Mendip Hills; Britain's smallest medieval city, Wells; Glastonbury – a pilgrimage destination for Christians and Pagans alike, and much more. Lacking the fame of the Cotswolds, Somerset is a stunning destination for visitors looking to experience rural England away from the tourists.

5 North Wessex Downs 1 hour from Bath
 These extraordinary grasslands mark the transition in the British Isles from a hunter-gatherer based society to the early beginnings of a settled society. The region is littered with prehistoric marvels: stone circles, burial tombs, ancient pathways, mysterious structures and Iron Age hill forts. The landscapes are breathtaking and still evoke a long lost era that pre-dates even the Romans' arrival 2000 years ago.

What Makes Bath the Perfect Base to Discover ‘Authentic’ England?

Bath is the ideal base for visitors looking to discover the very essence of authentic England – its culture, landscapes, history, cuisine, people and much more.

The region around Bath boasts a huge variety in terms of landscapes, places of interest and hidden treasures. Every direction from the city offers something different. The Cotswolds lie to the north and north-east. The prehistoric landscapes of the Marlborough Downs and Salisbury plains, home to the great stone circles of Stonehenge and Avebury are to the east and south-east. To the south lies the stunning countryside of Somerset, as well as medieval marvels including Glastonbury and Wells, and the dramatic limestone caves and views of Cheddar Gorge, whilst to the west sits the historic, yet vibrant city of Bristol, and the Welsh borderlands, home to some of the UK’s most enchanting medieval ruins and picturesque landscapes.

Throughout the region are stunning pubs and inns, beloved by locals, but off the beaten track, that are historic, evocative and serve the most exquisite food and incredible local ales.

Whether it’s history, nature, cultural connections or something else that you are looking to encounter during your time in England, you can be guaranteed that you’ll find the best and breadth of authentic England around Bath.

Before leaving Bath, be sure to explore all it has to offer on a private

See page 54 for more details.

Prehistory

The Bath region is home to some of England’s greatest prehistoric gems, including Stonehenge, and the mysterious stone circle at Avebury. Nearby are 6000 year old tombs (that can be entered), burial mounds, Iron Age hill forts and other wonders from our distant past.

Medieval Marvels

From 1000 year old abbeys, to Gothic masterpieces such as Wells Cathedral, to perfectly preserved medieval villages like Lacock and Castle Combe, the Bath region is home to some of England’s greatest medieval monuments. Explore marvels such as the great castle at Chepstow, the ruined abbey at Tintern or one of any number of extraordinary, ancient churches that are littered across the landscape, harking back to a very different time.

Gardens, Countryside and Landscapes

For lovers of nature and horticulture, the Bath region is awash with the very best of gardens that traverse the styles and historical periods. For lovers of formal, landscape, cottage, walled, Italianate gardens or something else, some of the best in the world can be found in the Bath area. A visit to Stourhead Estate and Gardens is a breath-taking experience, as is a wander through the maples at Westonbirt Arboretum in the autumn.

The countryside around Bath is also exquisite, made of fields, hedgerows and ancient settlements reached by tiny lanes with the Cotswolds, Somerset, and the hills of Wiltshire all possessing their own unique feel.

Historic Towns and Settlements

The West Country is home to some of England’s most evocative towns and villages. Towns like Bradford-on-Avon, Frome, Corsham, Tetbury and Malmesbury are historic, vibrant and filled with hidden wonders and fabulous independent stores making them ideal stops for really connecting with everyday life in authentic England, away from the tourist hordes.

Filming Locations in The South West of England

Bath is a must-visit for TV and Film lovers. The city and the surrounding region have become one of the most popular destinations worldwide for the big screen.

The beauty, visual appeal, heritage (including numerous historic grand houses) and close access to film studios in London and Bristol make it an easy choice for big studios working on a wide range of genres and sizes. Bath regularly stands in for London in almost every Georgian-era-themed film and TV series (such as Netflix's hit series, Bridgerton). You'll also recognise Bath from 2022's Holiday season hit, Wonka featuring Timothée Chalamet.

Rather unsurprisingly, many of the places we include in our tours appear in one or more of these productions...

The historic and picturesque nature of the region means that locations such as Bath, Castle Combe, Lacock and many other villages (and towns) in the area feature prominently in period dramas. This includes Jane Austen's 1995 Pride and Prejudice series that catapulted Colin Firth to stardom, 2011 Warhorse, Persuasion 1995 & 2022 and many more. If you're a fantasy lover you'll feel right at home amongst the Harry Potter filming locations and the lesser-known, but equally charming 2007 Stardust.

Our tours are perfect for exploring some of these big-screen, real-life locations. We go far beyond film-set collecting to provide real insight into the magical places themselves, and discover what drew location scouts to them in the first place!

Let our guides know that you're interested in filming locations, and they'll be sure to point them out during your tour. And for the movie buffs who are set on being immersed by the places they've fallen in love with from the big screen, a custom, private tour focusing on just the places and films you're really into is just the ticket!

Memorable Half Day Cotswolds Tour

“ Our half-day Cotswolds tour with Jules was the highlight of our U.K. trip. His historical accounts made Castle Combe come alive, and we enjoyed exploring villages and walking through a sheep pasture to Corsham, all in an intimate setting. Rain didn't dampen our experience; it made it even more memorable.”

Amazing tour - family of 13

“ From the first email to the moment we returned to our hotel, In & Beyond Bath was incredibly accommodating. Jules' tour was informative, engaging, and kept our 5 teens and 10-year-old entertained. The team requested information on each of us to customize the stops, spoke directly to our kids, and delivered everything we asked for with a few surprises. They even arranged return transportation to London. Don't think twice when booking—they were great! ”

Great Transfer Tour through the Cotswolds!

“ We needed a transfer to Birmingham from Bath and opted to include a tour through the Cotswolds. Jules was our tour guide/driver and he really took us off the beaten path. We stayed mostly off the main roads so we could see the beautiful countryside of the region and Jules included a stop at a pub for some delicious food. Would definitely recommend this tour company and will use them again when we are back in region. ”

What Our Guests Say...

Heading into the dark ages!

“ We had a wonderful trip to the hidden Cotswolds with Ralph as our guide. He was extremely knowledgeable about the area; very accommodating, picking us up at our location. He also contacted me the day before our trip to discuss details and give us an idea what we would be doing for the day. I won't divulge the locations we visited because it's a secret and you'll be very happy to see such lovely spots! Ralph gave us plenty of time to look around. He gave us the background details about the area which was fascinating for history buffs. We also saw an especially stately home, which was absolutely stunning. And the artwork was mind blowing!

This is really a perfect trip when you don't have a lot of time or don't wanna hassle with rental cars and driving but letting someone else show you around. I certainly did not want to attempt to drive around myself as an US driver! Ralph is an excellent and safe driver who inspired confidence and made us feel safe and secure. It was just an important concern for us after our hair raising taxi journey the previous day. Lol I'm so glad we did this journey with Ralph as our guide I recommend this trip 100% ”

Songja P, Cotswolds Full day – Aug 2024

The very best way to experience Bath and Surrounds

“ We actually did a private 2 day tour and it was the best part of our 7 week trip. It was designed for us to suit our interests and although I expected it to be amazing - it was so much more. Day 1 we focused on ancient burial mounds, long barrows, Glastonbury, Avebury and beyond with a yummy lunch at a local pub. Day 2 was to Wells Cathedral, Laycock Abbey and more - and again a delish lunch at a little local pub. Out of the tour bus areas and so much knowledge shared. Highly recommend. ”

196diannew, Cotswolds Half-Day – Oct 2024

A wonderful tour while staying in beautiful Bath

“ Our local driver/guide, Simon, ensured we had the perfect tour as his local knowledge was invaluable. Stonehenge is a must see when visiting this part of the UK - absolutely fascinating! Simon also included some lesser known but wonderful sights. He also took us to a small ANZAC cemetery because of our Australian heritage which was much appreciated. Simon also followed up with an email to us after the tour with a list of the places we visited which was very helpful. He also recommended some other sightseeing for us while we are staying in Bath and on our travels through Cornwall. Thank you Simon for a great day at Stonehenge & Beyond! ”

LHR to Cotswolds to Bath to London area

“ Jules, Thank you for your assistance in making transfer tour arrangements for LHR to the Cotswolds, the Cotswolds to Bath, and Bath to Lacock/Swindon. Everything went perfectly! Jules found us immediately at LHR, drove us to Greys Court for a visit, and stopped at Ebrington Arms where we had a lovely lunch before our Cotswolds drop off. Simon picked us up for our Cotswolds to Bath component and made modifications as necessary based on our previous experiences. He also coordinated our Bath walking tour and Bath to London area transfer. We really enjoyed our time with Simon and look forward to return. Sightseeing in the rain was balanced by...yes, more fabulous pub stops! Our family of four, including my husbands parents in their 80s, was so very well organized and thoroughly enjoyable! Thank you to all for great experiences in the region. ”
